STRIVE TO BRIDGE CHURCH FUND GAP

Workers in Chevy Chase Presbyterian Edifice Are Nearing $75,000 Goal.

There is still a hunt on in Chevy Chase for two or three more good Samaritans who will give three to five thousand dollars each to the cause of upbuilding the religious center of that community of 7,000 souls. The corps of men and women on both the Maryland and the District of Columbia sides of the line, who are contributing practically their entire time to the $125,000 campaign for the Presbyterian church to be built at Chevy Chase, are in quest of contributors from among their fellow-townsmen who will facilitate the completion of the $75,000 goal of the house-to-house canvass there. The canvass in Chevy Chase will end Monday night.

Still Need Over $20,000.

There is still more than $20,000 expected from Chevy Chase residents. Already the gifts made by the congregation and the people of Chevy Chase have run up to $54,000. The moment that reaches $70,000 there is a $5,000 contribution automatically added by a philanthropic citizen of Chevy Chase to bridge the gap. The announcement of this anonymous contributor, who wants to spur the campaign, was made at a meeting at Chevy Chase last night. The subscriptions and pledges from the Chevy Chase and the downtown canvass being made by teams of well known business men and women reached a total of $3,317 over the previous day's total. William S. Elliott won the flag for the best team record for the day.

President Harding Interested.

President Harding already has indicated an interest in the campaign of the Chevy Chase people. Edward Colladay, republican national committeeman for the District, and Rev. Dr. Hubert Rex Johnson, pastor of the Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church, called at the White House yesterday afternoon and told the President about the fight the Presbyterians are making for their new structure.

Dr. Johnson portrayed the broad vision actuating the movement. He said the church, though sectarian by name, is to be non-sectarian and interdenominational in scope, with a community-wide service.

It was indicated that the President would later give a fitting expression of his sympathetic interest in the project.

Prominent Speakers Listed.

Senator Calder of New York will speak at the Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church tonight and Senator Ball of Delaware and Capper of Kansas will speak Monday night. All three are honorary chairmen of the citizens' committee. Vice President Coolidge, Speaker Giffert, prominent members of the Senate and House and the Commissioners and other prominent Washingtonians will be invited to attend and speak services to be held on the lawn adjoining the present church structure on the east side of Chevy Chase Circle, at 11 o'clock next Sunday morning.

Donation Wins Applause.

At the meeting last night Chairman Colladay aroused applause by reading the following letter from a well known Washingtonian, whose name was withheld:

"Inclosed is my check for $25, my donation to the building fund of Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church. I have not been solicited, probably because I am not of your faith, being a Roman Catholic. Last week a Jew requested my donation for the Salvation Army drive. And it is as it should be. We who publicly profess our faith should breathe the very spirit of the spirit of the citizens of these great United States, which grants to us religious liberty. We of the fold should practice mutual helpfulness as an example to our less fortunate brothers and as an incentive to him to come within the help of God. I wish you success in your undertaking and hope that denominational lines will be thrown aside and that only the good Presbyterians but members of all churches rally to your air and oversubscribe the amount required."

Representative Zihlman's Address.

Representative Fred N. Zihlman in an address last night said:

"No movement, nothing that mankind has done, has served the high and lofty purpose that the Christian church does. It is the foundation stone on which the nation is built. No country is better or worse than the men and women in it. You have the right kind of men and women in Chevy Chase. America is essentially the land of opportunity, resting on the backs and broad shoulders of the average man in every community. The man who gives freely his brain and brawn is the man upon whom the nation is built."

"We hear a great deal about a wave of unrest and industrial and finan-
